Treasury's wellbeing framework

Posted on 14 September 2011

Organisation

Department of the Treasury

Purpose

The Treasury has developed a wellbeing framework to underpin analysis and advice across the full range of their public policy responsibilities. The framework is drawn from broadly applicable economic principles, which are Treasury's comparative advantage in the provision of policy analysis and advice to Government.

Link

http://www.treasury.gov.au/documents/1874/PDF/Treasury%20Strategic%20Framework_20110802.pdf

Project Dimensions

- The set of opportunities available to people.

- The distribution of those opportunities across the Australian people.

- The sustainability of those opportunities available over time.

- The overall level and allocation of risk borne by individuals and the community.

- The complexity of the choices facing individuals and the community.

How do the Treasury's domains fit within the MAP2010 framework?

for more information on the MAP2010 frameworks see here

-

- The set of opportunities available to people.

Search

Search this Blog

Recent Entries

The consultation continues...

Our last regular blog post

Blog contributions

Recent Comments

Towards Q2: Tomorrow&

'Things that matter

'Things that matter

Archive

November 2011 (4)

October 2011 (13)

September 2011 (91)

August 2011 (6)

July 2011 (1)

April 2011 (3)

- The distribution of those opportunities across the Australian people.

- The sustainability of those opportunities available over time.

- The overall level and allocation of risk borne by individuals and the community.

- The complexity of the choices facing individuals and the community.

-

-

Return to Home

Comments

No Comments Found

Subject:

Treasury's wellbeing framework

Name:

Email:

Add Comment:

© Australian Bureau of Statistics 2011 All Rights Reserved | Privacy Policy | Disclamer and Terms of Use | Contact Us